

A GUIDE TO BIBLE STUDY

Remembering why you are doing something will help you choose it when the distractions start fighting for you time and attention. So here is a simple question: Why do you want to make time to read the Bible?

Make a study plan now so you don't get stuck when you sit down to read. Are there any resources you want to look into?
(Ex: Concordances, studies)

How can you create an inviting environment just for Bible reading? (Ex: Special candle or blanket, no phone nearby)

What time of day can you commit to daily to spend in the Bible?

Any questions still holding you back? Ask a friend or mentor for wisdom.

What does Bible study time look like now?
